BULLOCH TIMES AND STATESBORO NEWS

J. SHIELDS KENAN
Editor and Publisher

Entered as second-class matter March 28, 1906, at the postoffice at Statesboro, Ga., under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Official County Organ

Editors Old and New.

THE LINES which follow will have to do with an unusual incident—the incoming of a new order and the outgoing of the old.

Without great ado a transaction has been consummated by which J.
Shields Kenan's name has been placed as owner and editor of the Bulloch Times, and the name of D. B. Turner has been permanently withdrawn as such. Without ado the transfer was consummated last Saturday, May 15th, and Mr. Kenan is in full authority and responsibility.

Shields Kenan, a native of States-boro, approximately 40 years of age, has been in the printing business for the past ten years, and has established a record for industry, skill and rectitude above par. Gradually he has surpassed himself with efficient help and, with self confidence he takes over with assurance of future success.

As to the retirement of this writer, nature has created the circumstances.
It was on the 16th day of February, 1886—one day after his thirteenth birthday—that the youngster was diverted from the school room and headed into the printing office of the West Hillboro Times, at Clearwater, Fla., along with his younger brother, J. Henry Turner, then 11 years of age.
(That brother passed away in California approximately a year ago.)

All the days since his entry into the printing profession sixty-nine years ago this editor has "hung type." He came to Statesboro sixteen years ago last month (April), and all the days since he has called this his home.
The year after his coming he was married to the sweetest girl who ever lived, and who remained loyal and helpful till her passing slightly more than three years ago. In the cemetery there is a double headstone with both names, and the date of the average's going is yet to be added—to be inscribed before always.

During the sixty-one years of residence in Statesboro friends have been loyal and helpful—and life has been given charm in large measure. Mention belongs especially to that group of loyal rural correspondents who have contributed to our newspaper and those thousands of subscribers and other generous patrons who have hereinwith bid a farewell and commend for a continuation of that support to our young successor.

(Back beyond the personal history recited above, the original connection of D. B. Turner with Bulloch county was established in the year 1818, when David Birthwick Turner was born in the Excelsior community, a half-brother of the later Ben Atwood, remembered by some of the old-timers. David Turner as a young man traveled into Florida, and there met a widow Campbell and raised a family of three children, of whom A. C. Turner was the oldest. This A. C. Turner inherited a fondness for Bulloch county, and it was his initiative which brought this writer to Statesboro, on April 21, 1893.)

D. B. TURNER.

A Pledge to the Public

We would be vain indeed if we were not the first to acknowledge our shortcomings in taking over the reins of publishing your paper from the hands of such a veteran newspaper man as Mr. D. B. Turner, and to also realize the responsibility, trust and magnitude of the job at hand.

At the same time we want to make a public pledge to give our new understanding the best that we can give it. If we fall short, you may know that it is not our desire or purpose and that we will ever strive to improve the type of paper that our community wants and deserves.

Your patience and forbearance, particularly in the outset while we "get our feet on the ground" will most certainly serve to encourage us.
Let it be understood that we have no plan at present to make any major changes in the layout, the features and the general policies so successfully carried out by our former editor and publisher.

The Alcoholic In Industry

A doctor who heads the medical department of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) recently spoke before a group of safety engineers on an extremely important problem—that of the alcoholic in industry.

As all of us know, the drinking driver is responsible for a horrifyingly high percentage of the carnage on our highways—in Chicago, for instance, it has been officially stated that 50 per cent of fatal auto accidents are the result of mixing alcohol and gasoline. In industry, too, the alcoholic is far more accident prone than others. He is a menace not only to himself but to his associates. On top of that, the alcoholic is often absent from the job, is inefficient, and presents all kinds of recurrent problems to his employer, his friends and his family. The doctor mentioned estimated that there are 2,000,000 problem drinkers in American industry today, that the number is swiftly increasing, that each loses an average of 22 days of work each year because of drinking—and that the payroll cost alone totals at least $741,000,000 annually!

He then offered a solution—and one which has proven sound and effective. Most alcoholics want to be cured and can be. The modern industrial approach to the problem, therefore, lies in dealing with the alcoholic as a sick man who needs treatment; in supporting research projects, such as alcoholic clinics; in developing educational programs within companies, and in working closely with outside agencies, such as the tremendously successful Alcoholics Anonymous. The potential return from a program such as this, measured in both human and money values, is beyond estimation—and it is a program which is within the ability of almost every employer and enterprise.

LIGHT OPERA PRESENTED

The Music Education Club of Georgia Teachers College presented the light opera, "Down in the Valley," during the college assembly program Monday.

Twenty-one students participated in the opera built around American folk songs are concerned with execution of Brack Weaver for the slaying of Thomas Bouché.

Directing the cast of 21 was Dan Hooley, assistant professor of music.
Cathy Toit, Albany, was in charge of lighting. The opera was presented with a minimum of scenery and dependent upon lighting for its effect.

G. T. C. PROFESSOR
ELECTED DEAN GUID

Jack W. Brucouk, associate professor of music at Georgia Teachers College was elected dean of the Savannah chapter of the American Guild of Organists at their meeting Monday night held at Christ Church, Savannah.

Mr. Brucouk, who has been a member of the national organization since 1940 and a member of the Savannah chapter for five years, succeeds Frank W. Wilson, director of instrumental music for Savannah Schools, as dean.

Other guests entered in the contest were Miss Gail McCormick, Brooklet; Miss Jo Ellen Smith, Port City; and Miss Romona Lee, Ogeechee.

Lewis and Kay Ann represented the Brooklet Farm Bureau in the talent contest. They did two songs and a dance routine to win. Mrs. William Cromley was at the piano. Miss Whaley, Lewis and Kay Ann will compete for first district honors June 18 at the Marietta School in Effingham county.

Judges for the queen contest were Mrs. W. P. Bland, Mrs. Ernest Brannen, and Kermitt Carr. The talent judges were Mrs. T. Earl Serson, Mrs. J. O. Johnston, and Miss Sally Serson.

Mack H. Guest, director of organization for the Georgia Farm Bureau, was presented to the group for a short talk. Mr. Guest expressed his approval of the way the show was put on and the interest shown in Bulloch county in Farm Bureau generally. Miss Henrietta Hall, chairman of the County Associated Women was in charge of the program.

August and the entire county system being in operation by January 1.

Frank Proctor, the Ogeechee president, asked those entering the community corn contest to pay in the $5.00. He stated that all those that were in the contest in 1953 were already back in for 1954. H. P. Warnock, county school superintendent, discussed the new zoning systems as defined by the committee brought from out of the county for the study. He pointed out that the Ogeechee community was assigned to the Laboratory Elementary School by the committee but that those wanting to send to some other school could file in writing a request to the Bulloch County Board of Education. Mr. Warnock stated that he had numerous requests to permit pupils from Statesboro to attend the Laboratory Elementary School, which might make it possible to exchange with some of those wanting to send to one of the new elementary schools in Statesboro. The zoning program does not affect the high school students, he stated. Mr. Warnock expressed the belief that the actual construction would start within 30 days on the six new school buildings in the county. All the plans are now ready.

Warnock's Farm Bureau program in June will be a tacky party. Mrs. Eunice Taylor, program chairman, announced, County farm agents and soil conservation technicians from some 20 counties will be here for the one day school. Mr. Lanier, Alex Wright, soils technician, S.C.S. station here, and Carl Huggins, district conservationist stationed here, will be in charge of the short course. The short course will be held on the local airport lands.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of Lyman P. Moore, who passed away two years ago today, May 20, 1952.
Today our hearts are heavy,
Our thoughts are all of thee, Oh, how we miss you, dear, None but God in heaven can see.
Some say time heals an aching heart, But no it isn't true,
For two long years have passed, dear,
And our hearts still ache for you.
